HEADMASTER'S MESSAGE

We are indeed privileged to be given an opportunity to interact with you. At the outset, let me sincerely congratulate you on deciding to become a judge. Being a member of judiciary is one of the best ways to serve the society and such a noble aspiration is definitely most worthy of aspiration. Welcome to the world of Ambition, which diligently caters to the needs of judicial aspirants and reckoned and recognized as India's only institute that is dedicated towards providing legal education. Standing true to their name, Ambition Law Institute not only inspires its students to aim high but also strive hard to achieve their ambitions. "Ambition Law Institute" where Ambition is shaping legal careers through institutionalized teaching & training. Our unparalleled commitment, unquestionable integrity & unmatched intelligence have guided us to achieve the numero uno position in the legal field. We stand for our pledge and we promise to deliver the best and to serve you in the most insightful manner.

Ambition Law Institute has been fortunate to formulate fruitful interactions and associations with Bar Associations, Law Schools, Court Establishment and Civil Service Training Academies so that a dynamic, meaningful and evolutionary outlook towards a preparation strategy can be devised to successfully combat the tedious entrance examination process. With a plethora of selections over the last two decade, Ambition is the leader in providing the supreme quality preparatory guidance.

We believe in the capabilities of every student who walks through our door and we make it our sole objective to provide them exemplary learning experiences. In modern times like these, it is not sufficient to be laborious but it's equally imperative to perform smart work. Hence, the hours of study do not matter rather it is the right approach and strategy that count. In this regard, Ambition has always been available to guide the students in every aspect which can yield the best results. At the present time, it's not only by learning law which guarantees success but even proficiency in English, depth of General Knowledge, good writing skills in essays and mastery in translation also play a pivotal role in clearing judicial services exams. So we give due weightage to these areas also by conducting classes for a holistic preparation. As you might be aware that many students have a decent command over legal concepts, however they fail due to their unpreparedness in other domains. At the same time we need to keep that in mind that those domains need not be overemphasized. So, we have formulated our lecture plan to provide them the desired results. Lastly, I sincerely look forward to meet you and genuinely wish you the very best of luck for your future endeavors.

What is Indian Administrative Services

The Indian Administrative Service (IAS) was formed in the year of 1946. It is one of the three All India Services. (The other two are Indian Foreign Services and Indian Police Services). The cadre controlling authority for IAS is Ministry of Personnel, Public Grievances & Pension, Department of Personnel & Training. The selected candidates' training ground is at Lal Bahadur Shastri National Academy of Administration. I.P.S. is trained at Sardar Patel Academy situated at Hyderabad.

Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel is remembered as the "Patron Saint" of India's civil servants for establishing modern all-India services. In an unprecedented and unrepeated gesture, on the day after his death more than 1,500 officers of India's civil and police services congregated to mourn at Patel's residence in Delhi and pledged "complete loyalty and unremitting zeal" in India's service.

The IAS or Indian Administrative Service is the most preferred career in India. No other career or job can offer you the same power, perks, status, privileges, and job satisfaction as the IAS including the tremendous opportunity offered to contribute positively to the society. The IAS personnel enjoy the levers of power in the Indian administrative setup and occupy some of the most responsible positions in the government.

Candidates are allotted to the various services keeping in view their ranks in the examination and the preferences expressed by them for the various services and posts.

Functions of IAS Officers

1. The Indian Administrative Service (IAS) is the administrative civil service of the Government of India. IAS officers hold key positions in the Union government, State governments and public-sector undertakings.
2. Along with the police and forest services, the IAS is one of the three All India Services - its cadre can be employed both by the union government and the states. IAS officers are recruited by the Union government on the recommendation of the Union Public Service Commission (UPSC) and posted under various state governments. The officers carry high respect and status in the society coupled with the significant task of administering public offices, making it one of the most desirable jobs in India.
3. The IAS handles affairs of government, which involves the framing and implementation of policy in consultation with the concerned Minister.
4. Implementation of policies calls for supervision and also traveling to the places where the decisions taken are being implemented.
5. Implementation entails disbursement of funds, which calls for personal supervision.
6. The officers are answerable to the Parliament and State Legislatures for any irregularities that may occur.
7. The functions and responsibilities of an IAS officer change at different points of his/her career.
8. At the beginning of their career IAS officers join the State administration at the Sub-Divisional level, as a Sub-Divisional Magistrate, and look after law and order, general administration and development work in the area under their charge.
9. The post of the District Officer variously known as District Magistrate, district Collector or Deputy Commissioner is the most prestigious and identifiable post held by the members of the service.
10. At the District level, these officers are mainly concerned with district affairs, including implementation of developmental programmes.
11. During the normal course of a career, the officers also serve in the State Secretariat or as Heads of Departments or in Public Sector Undertakings.
12. Officers may move from positions at the State, under deputation, to the Centre and back again.
13. At the top of the hierarchy of IAS officers at the Centre is the Cabinet Secretary followed by Secretary/Additional Secretary, Joint Secretary, Director, Deputy Secretary and Under Secretary. These posts are filled according to seniority.
14. The main work of IAS officers at the Centre, involves formulation and implementation of policies pertaining to a particular area e.g., finance, commerce, etc.
15. In the process of policy formulation and decision making, officers at various levels like joint secretary, deputy secretary make their contributions and the final shape to the policy is given or a final decision is taken with the concurrence of the minister concerned or the cabinet depending upon the gravity of the issue.

Union Public Service Commission

Provisions regarding the Public Service Commissions are provided in Articles 315 to 323 of the Constitution of India. The Article says that there shall be a Public Service Commission (UPSC) for the Union and Public Service Commissions for the States (SPSC). The SPSC is created, like UPSC, directly by the Constitution, a Joint State Public Service Commission (JSPSC) can be created by an act of the Parliament on the request of the Legislature of the State concerned. The UPSC can also serve the needs of a State on the request of the State Governor and with the approval of the President of India. The UPSC is the central recruiting agency in India. It is an independent Constitutional body in the sense that it is directly created by the Constitution of India. The members of the UPSC and the SPSCs are to be appointed by the President and the Governor respectively.

The Constitution visualizes the Union Public Service Commission to be the 'Watchdog of merit system' in India. The function of the UPSC is to advise, not to decide.

Assamese, Bengali, Bodo, Dogri, Gujarati, Hindi, Kannada, Kashmiri, Konkani, Maithili, Malayalam, Manipuri, Marathi, Nepali, Oriya, Punjabi, Sanskrit, Santhali, Sindhi, Tamil, Telugu, Urdu, English

Law-An Interesting and Scoring Optional Subject

Law is a subject which is based more upon concept and analysis apart from being interesting and applied, Law offers great career opportunities in current times. In civil services, the exams are conducted in 3 stages i.e. preliminary, mains & interview. So while preparing we have to keep all the 3 stages of examination in mind.

In mains examination one is required to develop capacity to understand the call of question and develop an analytical bent of mind which can be applied in giving complete content to an organized answer. These days questions of law are of theoretical kind which has blend of traditional & modern topics. For traditional topics class notes & material are enough & for modern topics, you must read newspaper carefully.

The mains exam demands reproduction of ideas whereas P.T. requires choosing the right option. Student should prepare both for mains and preliminary exam simultaneously. A concrete preparation would mean starting with an incisive approach identifying a strategy and selecting portions to lay stress on. A glance at previous years questions papers can be very helpful in this regard.

LAW- NOT ONLY ABOUT SECTIONS & CASE LAWS

A common misconception about law is that it is bulky and contains mere provisions. A deep understanding of the law will translate into a genuine interest creation. It is a subject based on common sense & logic and anyone can learn it.

The broad conceptual base has to be developed and its inter-linkages with other topics and subjects have to be appreciated and that is what makes the learning process interesting.

APPROACH OF STUDY :

In the light of better preparation, the approach of preparation should be oriented towards the following ends:

1. The student should try to develop a broad conceptual base.
2. Understanding of the linkages with the topics and other papers of law.
3. To apply law in real factual situation
4. Temporal and spatial variations along with why this variation has happened and what its implication is.
5. To produce analytical content in the answers of mains examinations.

The recent year question papers reflect that the questions have not only been asked from often repeated areas but also from the areas which have not been touched so far. The current development and happenings also condition the mind of question-setters and they raise new issues from the same area. Some papers like Constitution and international law are more dynamic in nature and pose problems for students and they require rigorous analysis of the questions. As far as other papers are concerned, it is more Bare Act oriented and the nature of question being very simple, so it has more potential to yield the better results. Therefore, the approach of study and the answer writing pattern of these papers should be different. So some papers apart from analysis and comprehension require support of current developments whereas other papers expect orientation of Bare Act along with illustrations and case laws.

STRATEGY FOR PREPARATION

These competitive examinations require a different kind of approach and strategy which include understanding the real syllabus, demand of the question, demand of subject, the art of writing the answers and the ability to reproduce that at the right time.

An aspirant of Civil Services needs to strive for excellence in his/her presentation and the first step towards achieving that is to have in-depth and thorough knowledge of the subjects which can come only through hard work over a period or through competent and able guidance.

We, at Ambition Law Institute, have prepared the real syllabus, which is reflected in the previous years' questions. Here lies the difference between the relevant and The most relevant topics to be studied for the examination. Most of us know the relevant things but are unable to find out the most relevant things, which make our study precise, and exam oriented.

We not only prepare our teaching syllabus, according to the demand of the examinations, but also try to solve the questions of previous years and also try to answer the questions, which are in our contemplation i.e. likely to be asked.

EFFECTIVE STUDY :

To study effectively for written examination either objective or subjective, a student must be able to cover all the three important aspects

1. To reduce legal theories and statute down to a concise, straight forward statement of the elements which are just enough to be applied. Without knowledge of the precise elements, it is not possible to anticipate each of the potential issues which the legal theory could yield.
2. To perceive or anticipate which words or phrases within a legal principle are likely to be the source of issues and how they are likely to arise within the context of a problem.
3. To conceptualize situations in which each of the elements of a rule of law would become the source of a factual issue. Unless a student can illustrate to himself/herself an application of each element of a rule of law, he/she does not truly understand that legal principle.

ANSWERING TECHNIQUE :

While writing the answer one should first prepare the background of the answer and for doing this following suggestions have to be kept in mind:

- (1) Statement of law
- (2) Case laws or illustration of Bare Act or your own example
- (3) Logical conclusion on the above two.

Apart from it, one should adhere to (1) A, B, C of answer writing i.e. accuracy, brevity and clarity in presenting answer, (2) innovative examples and illustrations which can explain law in the best possible way and (3) Spotting of issues and raising arguments for and against.

PRACTICE MAKES A MAN PERFECT :

Success can be achieved only by practice which exposes one's weakness and prepares one well in advance of examination.

Law is not all about sections, case laws & facts which is a general perception, so it must not be read in a shallow manner but one should try to delve deep into the subject by raising questions like what is this topic all about, what is its relevance, what question can be raised in the exam & how to make it interesting so it can be remembered better.

INTERVIEW > Alok Kumar Ranjan (Headmaster, Ambition Law Institute, Delhi)

How did Ambition Law Institute come into being?

Strong desire to teach motivated me to train students of neighbourhood at native & in Delhi & when I got opportunity to mentor them, they surprised me by saying that I teach well and method of communication is sui generis and so there was the spark and of course, I was looking for a rewarding career which can contribute to the growth of nation and society & hence opted to be a trainer, motivator by opening a training institute in the name of Ambition Law Institute in year 2001.

Do different exams (e.g. Judicial Services Examination, CLAT & CSE (Law)) require different preparation process?

These examinations have different goals, one is to select a person who has aptitude to learn law, another is to select who can deliver justice in social context with sense of responsibility and comparison and third one is meant to select an officer who can work for the people's betterment as per the direction of the government. Hence the requirement of all exams are entirely different and in later part of interview I have elaborated upon strategy to be followed for cracking these exams.

Law is considered as one of the social sciences. How important therefore is the study of history, politics, economics & sociology?

Law operates in society and for society, so understanding of social, economic and political background of society is must for proper understanding of operation and execution of law. Hence, they provide suitable base for learning of Law in proper environment.

Are students today more keen to prepare for judicial services than it was a few years back?

If we look 15 years back, then judicial services exam was an irregular affair but now a days when there is so much discussion on quick justice delivery and it has been reiterated by the Supreme Court also time and again and has been realized by executive too that there is very poor population-judge

Alok Kumar Ranjan,
Headmaster, Ambition Law Institute, Delhi

Ideal time to begin is when one decides to appear in exam and students of differential capacities will take different time period to prepare for it ratio in India, therefore there is huge demand of judges at all levels and these days different states are conducting exams every year. So, obviously students find a good career option in form of lower as well as higher judicial services.

What is an ideal preparation time for a student for these above exams? Do they vary for exam to exam?

Ideal time to begin is when one decides to appear in exam and students of differential capacities will take different time period to prepare for it. For that purpose one can begin as early as possible so that he/she can plan and strategise as accordingly in advance but at least two year time framework is must.

Modern Era has thrown open diverse options and opportunities to Law students. In this regard, Ambition Law Institute has adopted an approach to train the aspirants to meet the challenges of different career options be it advocacy or justice delivery or confirming to corporate career or be it Law Managers etc. All of these demand application of multidisciplinary use to substantive Law like Law relating approach and establishing interlinkages at interdisciplinary & intradisciplinary level, application of Criminal & Civil procedure to substantive Law like Law relating to criminal and civil wrong for finding best solution and of course it needs training of highest standard which can make them competent to cross over hurdles at different stages of providing solutions.

The institute was established with sole aim to provide high quality and relevant education and training to meet the requirement of the modern era competitive exams standard so that the aspirants from any segment of society could have full confidence to pass any exam in legal sphere at lowest cost. We are seriously committed to our mission to provide the finest legal education and to prepare the next generation of leaders, to build the nation and reform the society.

When I look back, I feel proud that we have been able to produce more number of Civil Servants with law optional and huge number of judicial officers from Kashmir to Kanyakumari and from Kutch to Arunachal who have been doing excellent job in their respective areas and carrying our ambition flag high.

Apart from this, we have trained many to become great lawyers, corporate law managers PPs and APPs along with Professors & Lecturers who are flag bearers of our unique innovative and absorbing method of imparting education and making learning an enjoyable experience.

Not only this we have started our own publication in the name of Ambition Publications to reach out to masses by publishing books at lowest cost and the first book which we published is an "Idea of Constitution" – a short, simple summary of Indian Constitution which can be comprehended by common man. And now we are publishing even simplified version of Bare Acts to help students even at remote places to learn law in easier and better way.

In contrast to other institute of repute, we charge lesser fee to serve the students and our faculties go to different universities to share their ideas of learning law and preparing to help the students studying there. So, we understand our responsibility to society in true spirit and not in words and promises.

JUDICIAL SERVICE (Preparation Strategy)

The judicial services have two entry levels. The first is for fresh graduates through an entrance exam conducted by the respective State Public Service Commissions (like Punjab, Haryana, UP, Bihar, Rajasthan etc.) or the High Court (Delhi). The syllabus for these examinations can be found on the website of the commissions which includes law subjects along with English, General Knowledge and the Local language of the State. Even Ambition publishes copy of syllabus of judicial services. An entry through this avenue assures you of time based promotions and a secured employment early in your career.

The second avenue through which you may join the judicial service is known as the Higher Judicial Service (HJS). This service is open for lawyers with a certain prescribed period of litigation practice (i.e. seven years). For that applicants have to appear in a competitive examination conducted by the High Court of Judicature of different States and the syllabus for which is similar to the one described above. The advantage with this option is that if selected the applicant gets posted as an Additional District Judge which significantly hastens promotional prospects and the candidate can become a High Court Judge.

Judicial Services examination is three tier exam which demands different preparation plan & strategy at different levels. The first stage is preliminary which require Bare Act analysis, conceptual & contextual clarity, awareness of spatial and temporal variations apart from memorising some factual information. For this purpose we need to prepare an aspirant for understanding the scheme of Bare Act. As we strongly

MENTORING FUTURE JUDGES & IAS

Law has immense utility in General Studies as Polity and international relation and Essay writing too and I may say that administration cannot be run without learning law. So, law is must know area for an administrator believe Law is Common sense & Logic and everything has an arrangement and order and as there is synthesis in human body parts as head is at the top & Leg is at the bottom, similarly in all Bare Acts we have an order & organization, there is just need to pick it up in the correct order and that is what we do in our training. For example in Cr.P.C. there will be investigation first, then report will be filed and then any judge can take cognizance and begin trial and at this stage there will be question of territorial jurisdiction of court and after trial only there can be acquittal or conviction and if aggrieved, there can be chance of appeal, review etc, so the arrangement of chapters & sections are like that. This arrangement awareness and understanding can make you very comfortable in memorizing sections, and chapters and it is key to Preliminary Exam.

I believe that text finds its meaning in context so understanding everything in context is necessary for proper understanding.

Then comes the second level of written exam where one is required to provide solution to application based questions or reproduction of ideas in answer to theoretical questions and at last level interview session to examine suitability of a person as a judge who can deliver justice with sense of responsibility. For this purpose We, at Ambition, have blend of experience and energy in our team to produce best quality teaching which answers all questions related to a topic and has been designed in such a manner to make understanding easy, interesting and absorbing and in a way it is and absorbing and in a way it is meant to train the minds to think.

The training of students are imparted in such a way that they can tackle the most complex questions asked in exam. The teaching methodology helps students to retain the idea in mind for long time & to produce them with ease in different pattern & style to suit the needs of different exam. Here we train students to prepare the best answers in their own words and we advise them to prepare synoptical notes with sections and cases in their own words.

CLAT : An emerging option

CLAT has only one stage of objective exam consisting of the components of Legal Aptitude, Logical Reasoning, English Language, Mathematical Aptitude and General Awareness which has good standard and requires practice in time frame as there are 200 questions to be solved in two hours. We suggest students first to master principles & then practice on everyday basis.

Legal Aptitude, Logical Reasoning and to an extent English Grammar & usage require proper grasp of certain limited principles to be applied.

Learning of general awareness is a long process which must be learnt in story type manner otherwise cramming of facts is too cumbersome process. So we advise students to read one good newspaper like Indian Express everyday and to build a story in mind and this newspaper reading helps them to improve English Language understanding, vocabulary & usage apart from helping them in learning legal developments like passing of new laws & ordinances, recent decisions of the Apex Court, understanding legal terms along with current legal happenings around them.

Law (Must for IAS)

Law as an optional in IAS is based on common sense understanding & application of variety of interesting Laws like

Crime, Contract, Tort apart from contemporary legal development in different fields of law related to consumer protection to environment protection, understanding of information technology law to Copyright & Patent. Apart from them, prevention of corruption, protection of Civil Rights help an aspirant to serve society better. Constitution is a basic law which helps in Polity and working of different constitutional machinery apart from governmental policies and plan which has to be in accordance with DPSP and International Law helps them to understand international dimensions in legal sphere which can make them confident in dealing with International Affairs.

The nature of questions generally find context in key areas & current happenings so it becomes predictable too. Only requirement is basic indepth understanding of topics of the syllabus in current context.

Law as such is nothing but common sense & Logic so any student can adopt this subject as one of the safest optional because it needs common sense application of set of rules in a given situation to find solution and has immense utility in General Studies as Polity and International relation and Essay writing too and I may say that administration cannot be run without learning law. So, law is must know area for an administrator.

Our Training (Preparation Pedagogy)

These days, as success does not come only by learning law but even proficiency in English, depth of General knowledge, writing skills in Essay & mastery in translation also count, so we give importance to these areas also by conducting classes for these things. As you might be aware that many students know law but they fail due to their unpreparedness in other areas but at the same time these things cannot be overemphasized. So we have formulated our lecture plan to give them desired importance. We follow certain basic thumb rules which are as follows:

- Begins with basics - Session for every subject begins with the basics of the syllabus. We don't assume that students have come to us well-prepared.
- Proven experience and reputation - Ambition has been serving students from across the spectrum in all capacities for over a decade and has been the undisputed leader in providing meaningful preparatory legal education.
- Student centric approach - All our teachers and staff are dedicated towards making classes congenial for students. We commit ourselves into evolving in as many ways as possible to suit the needs and aspirations of our students. The pace, intensity and remedial attributes are carefully placed keeping only the students at the realm.
- Dedicated Expertise - Preparation of such immensely competitive exams demand a dedicated team of experts who at Ambition, work tirelessly round the clock so that the most updated, relevant and concise literature could be ready for students use.

I will sincerely advise all aspirants & their parents to take decision after exercising due care and caution in selecting career as well as the institute. We should go by the quality of teaching and mentors rather than relying exclusively on results as many institutes give session for one day in the name of interview guidance or answer writing and then publish photographs which is quite misleading and by show of the photographs they charge hefty fee as well and aspirants unaware of truth fall prey to their claim.

INTERVIEW > Alok Kumar Ranjan (Headmaster, Ambition Law Institute, Delhi)

How did Ambition Law Institute come into being?

A strong desire to teach motivated me to train students in the neighbourhood both in my home town and in Delhi. Their positive response encouraged me to take up training and mentoring as a career. That is how I launched Ambition Law Institute in 2001.

Why is Law a preferred optional subject in the UPSC examination?

The subject enables the civil services aspirant to acquire an understanding of a variety of laws and helps familiarise them with legal developments in areas such as consumer protection, environment protection, information technology as well as copyright and patent laws. That apart, learning about the prevention of corruption and the protection of civil rights will help an aspirant to serve society better.

Law is nothing but common sense and logic, so any student can safely opt for this subject. It needs a common-sense application of a set of rules in any given situation to find solutions. The subject has immense utility in General Studies and essay writing too. In fact, knowledge of law is a must for any administrator.

Could you tell us about the preparation strategy for the Judicial Services examination?

The Judicial Services examination is a three-tier exam which demands a different preparation plan and strategy at each level. The first or preliminary stage requires Bare Act analysis, conceptual and contextual clarity and an awareness of spatial and temporal variations, apart from memorising factual information. All Bare Acts have an order and organisation, and the student only needs to pick it up in the right order, and that is what we enable in our training. An awareness and understanding of this arrangement can enable the student to comfortably memorise sections and chapters, and this is key to the preliminary exam. I believe that the text finds its meaning in context, so

Alok Kumar Ranjan,
Headmaster, Ambition Law Institute, Delhi

Ideal time to begin is when one decides to appear in exam and students of differential capacities will take different time period to prepare for it studying everything in context is necessary for proper understanding.

At the second level of the written exam, the student is required to provide solutions to application-based questions or reproduce ideas in answer to theoretical questions. At the final level, an interview is conducted to examine the suitability of the candidate to serve as a judge.

The training is imparted in such a way that students can tackle the most complex examination questions. Our teaching methodology helps students retain the ideas and reproduce them with ease in different patterns to suit the needs of different exams. We train students to prepare the answers and synoptical notes with sections and cases in their own words. The Common Law Admission Test (CLAT) is seen as an emerging option.

The CLAT is a single exam comprising 200 objective-type questions to be solved in two hours.

The components include legal aptitude, logical reasoning, English language, mathematical aptitude and general awareness. Since these subjects require practice within a time frame, we suggest that students first master the principles and then practise on an everyday basis.

We advise students to read an English newspaper every day. Newspaper reading helps students improve their language, vocabulary and usage, apart from keeping up to date on legal developments such as the passing of new laws and ordinances, and legal terms.

What is unique about Ambition Law Institute's pedagogy?

At Ambition Law Institute, we believe that success does not come only by learning law. Proficiency in English, general knowledge, essay writing skills and mastery in translation are also essential. We focus on these areas and conduct classes accordingly. Many students know law but fail due to their unpreparedness in other areas.

We have formulated our lecture plan to give each subject its desired importance. We follow a certain rule of thumb. For instance, sessions for each subject begin with the basics of the syllabus.

Ambition Law Institute has been serving students for over a decade and has been the undisputed leader in providing meaningful preparatory legal education. We have a student-centric approach.

Our teachers and staff work towards ensuring that the classes are suited to the needs and aspirations of the students. We provide dedicated expertise. Our team of experts works tirelessly to prepare updated, relevant and concise literature for students' use.

We believe in helping a student grow both intellectually and in terms of his/her overall personality. We pay individual attention to ensure a marked improvement in the candidates.

Dear Mr. Ranjan,

The Department of Law, University of Kashmir in collaboration with Center for Career Planning and Counseling is organizing workshop for candidates who intend to appear in Kashmir Judicial Examinations. As you are aware that the next examination calls for a different orientation and methodology on the part of the candidates. Therefore, we intend to conduct a workshop on the 22nd and 23rd of this month wherein the candidates will be exposed to such orientation and methodology.

Keeping in view your expertise and experience in the field of competitive examinations in general and judicial examinations in particular, we therefore request you to conduct the said workshop on the dates mentioned above. They will be paid Rs. 5,000 as remuneration for the said workshop in addition to air fare (Delhi to Srinagar and back) and for boarding and lodging.

I would appreciate your early response to this letter.

With warm regards,

Yours Sincerely,

SAUMYA SHARMA
(RANK-9)
CSE-2017

My advice to all aspirants would be to be honest with yourself in your preparation. There is no shortcut to success. Dedication, determination, and hard work is required, practice is essential. One must practice tests for their optional paper, as well as general studies. I joined Ambition law institute's test series for law optional accentuating my performance in law optional.

The excerpts is taken from- PD (English Medium) June/2013/1848.

PD- The first step is the most difficult ; from where, you did get the right advice?

Apurva- Yes, it is. I was pursuing Law. For Law I joined Ambition Law Institute which helped me a lot and taught law with such ease that law was something wherein I felt comfortable. It was my first attempt, I read a lot of things which were not required. So, it also made me over-stressed, That is where I was at fault, but in 2nd attempt. I didn't do so, and concentrated on sir's class notes & teachings.

VICHITRA VEER
Non Law Student Cracking
Civil Services Exam 2012 with Law Optional

Law was an unconventional choice as I have a degree in B. Tech. (Computer Science). Almost everyone I talked to, advised against it. However, I never saw anything wrong with the subject and found it easy to grasp. I joined Ambition Law Institute for Law.

PD- To whom would you like to give the credit for your success?

First and foremost to the Almighty. Then to my parents, in laws, friends, Alok Sir from Ambition excerpts is taken from- PD (English Medium) March /2014/70.

I would like to take this opportunity to inform you about my success in CSE. I am truly thankful to you for providing me quality guidance and helping me to achieve my goal. Your unique and an interesting way of teaching has made me love the subject and has guided to attain success in a very short span of time and get 363 marks in LAW. Ambition Law Institute is really an awesome institute. It provided me the means to achieve my goal in like. I heartily appreciate all the efforts that the entire Ambition team has put into my success & many others like me.

Thank You Ambition

TANYA SINGH
(IAS-CSE)

Without your worthy guidance and encouragement, I would not have made it to the top. Your prophetic vision as to what is likely to come is matchless. Your personal interaction with every student and ability to help everyone sail through successfully is unique & appreciable. I owe my success to Alok Sir and his institute. Your institute is the best place for Judicial and Civil Service preparation.
